INTRODUCTION

The Minister of Finance Carlos Leitão, tabled a budget mainly aimed at economic recovery and restoring sound public finances.

“We want Québec to create more wealth and our economy to support more jobs. At the same time, we want to end the structural imbalance in public finances that puts us deeper into debt each year and increasingly limits our freedom of action.”

The Minister explained that, to boost economic recovery, the government will act according to certain thrusts, namely new support for private investment, with a focus on SMEs, particularly manufacturing SMEs, as well as the implementation of maritime strategy, a plan to responsibly develop Québec’s maritime potential while acquiring a unique environmental expertise.

Minister Leitão confirmed that the government will adhere to the timeline for balancing the budget, planned for 2015-2016.

This action will be accompanied by tax reform, which the Québec government will undertake to build robust, lasting economic growth. This reform will be based on the work of a taxation committee, chaired by Luc Godbout. The committee will make recommendations to the government on personal and corporate taxation. The composition of the committee and the details of its creation will be made public soon.

Here are the highlights of the 2014-2015 budget.

ECONOMIC RECOVERY MEASURES

Reduced tax rate for manufacturing SMEs

The tax rate on the income of manufacturing SMEs will be reduced by two percentage points, i.e. to 6%, on June 5, 2014 and will be reduced by two more percentage points as of April 1, 2015, to 4%.

However, where the taxation year of a manufacturing SME includes June 4, 2014 or March 31, 2015, the additional deduction rate will apply in proportion to the number of days of such taxation year that follow June 4, 2014 or that follow March 31, 2015.

Eligible SMEs will have to meet the same criteria as SMEs currently eligible for the reduced rate for SMEs, and the majority of their activities must be related to manufacturing and processing.

Notion of manufacturing SME

The expression “manufacturing SME”, for a given taxation year, means a corporation at least 25% of whose activities consist of manufacturing and processing activities.

Determination of the rate of the additional deduction

A manufacturing SME whose proportion of activities attributable to manufacturing and processing activities, for a given taxation year, is 50% or more, may benefit from the maximum additional deduction rate applicable for such taxation year.

Where such proportion, for a given taxation year, is between 50% and 25%, the additional deduction rate the manufacturing SME may claim, for such taxation year, will be reduced linearly.

For example, a manufacturing SME, otherwise eligible for an additional deduction of four percentage points, whose proportion of activities attributable to manufacturing and processing activities is 40% may claim an additional deduction rate of 2.4%¹.

Additional deduction for transportation costs of remote manufacturing SMEs

To recognize the higher transportation costs for manufacturing SMEs remote from major urban centres, the budget provides for the implementation of an additional deduction in calculating income for tax purposes, corresponding to:

- > 2% of gross income, with a $100,000 cap per corporation, for manufacturing SMEs located in the intermediate zone;
- > 4% of gross income, with a $250,000 cap per corporation, for manufacturing SMEs located in the remote zone;
- > 6% of gross income, with no cap per corporation, for manufacturing SMEs located in the special remote zone.

To learn about the principal parameters of the additional deduction for transportation costs of remote manufacturing SMEs, see appendix 1.

Rate of the additional deduction depending on the level of manufacturing activities

A manufacturing SME whose proportion of activities attributable to manufacturing and processing activities, for a given taxation year, is 50% or more, may claim the maximum additional deduction otherwise applicable to it for such taxation year, i.e. the rate depending on the zone where the largest share of its manufacturing activities is carried out.

Moreover, where such proportion, for a given taxation year, is between 50% and 25%, the additional deduction rate the manufacturing SME may claim, for such taxation year, will be reduced linearly.

This additional deduction rate will apply regarding a taxation year ending after June 4, 2014.

¹ i.e.: $4\% \times ([40\% - 25\%] / 25\%) = 2.4\%$.

Reduced contribution to the Health Services Fund to boost innovation in SMEs

A reduction in the contribution to the Health Services Fund (HSF) will be granted until 2020 for the increase in payroll attributable to the hiring of specialized employees from the natural and applied sciences sector.

For employers whose payroll does not exceed $1 million, the reduction will completely eliminate the contribution to the Health Services Fund payable for such new specialized employees. Employers whose payroll is between $1 million and $5 million will receive a partial reduction in the contribution payable for such employees.

Eligible employer

An eligible employer for a year means any employer, other than an excluded employer, that, during the year, carries on a business in Québec and has an establishment there. The employer can be a legal person, a partnership or an individual.

To that end, an excluded employer for a year means the State, the government of another province or the Canadian government as well as an employer that, at a given time of the year, is:

- > either an organization that is a mandatory of the State, the government of another province or the Canadian government;
- > a municipality or an organization that is a mandatory of a municipality;
- > a municipal or public body that performs a function of government or an organization that is a mandatory of such a body;
- > or a corporation, commission or association exempt from income tax under section 985 of the Taxation Act.

Eligible employee

An eligible employee means an employee who is hired to hold, in Québec, a recognized job (see appendix 2) under an employment contract – for an indeterminate term or for a stipulated minimum period of 40 weeks – requiring at least 26 hours of work per week, provided such employee holds a diploma normally required to have access to the recognized job and provided he was hired:

- > where the employer's reference year is calendar year 2013, after June 4, 2014;
- > otherwise, after the end of the employer's reference year.

Eligible salary

An employee's eligible salary for a given year corresponds to any part of his salary included in the calculation of the Health Services Fund contribution payable for the year by the employer, excluding an amount representing the value of a benefit the employee received or benefited from, because of a prior office or employment.

Reference year

An employer's reference year corresponds to the first calendar year after 2012 in which the employer carried on a business during the entire year.

Total payroll

The total payroll of an eligible employer for a year will be determined using the same rules as those stipulated for the purposes of calculating its contribution to the Health Services Fund for the year.

Increase in payroll

The increase in an eligible employer's payroll for a given year must be determined taking into account the payroll and the attributes of all the employers associated with each other at the end of the year – except for employers for whom the reference year has not ended before the beginning of the year.

In addition, employers associated with each other must share the amount of the increase in payroll determined for a given year by filing an agreement to that effect with Revenu Québec.

Special rules in the case of a reorganization

Rules will be put in place so that the amount of the excess contribution to the Health Services Fund is not reduced simply because an employer succeeded other employers following a business reorganization.

Introduction of incentives to foster the marine industry

Two new fiscal measures will be added to the existing refundable tax credit for the construction or conversion of ships.

The first measure will enable a Québec shipowner to set up a tax-free reserve to award the execution of construction, renovation and maintenance work on vessels of his fleet to a Québec shipyard.

Under the second measure, a Québec shipowner that awards work to a Québec shipyard will be able to claim an additional deduction of 50% for the depreciation of a vessel.

MEASURES TO ENCOURAGE ACTIVE LIVING FOR SENIORS

Enhancement of the tax credit for experienced workers

The tax legislation will be amended to provide that, as of the 2015 taxation year, the tax credit for experienced workers will be calculated on an experienced worker's first $4,000 of eligible work income in excess of the first $5,000 of such income.

Introduction of a refundable tax credit for seniors' activities

The budget provides for the introduction of a refundable tax credit to support the participation of seniors in physical, artistic, cultural and recreational activities. This tax assistance will apply to eligible expenses paid as of June 5, 2014.

The tax credit will represent 20% of eligible expenses not exceeding $200 a year and target seniors 70 and over with an individual income of $40,000 or less.

Eligible expenses

An eligible expense of an individual for a particular taxation year will be any amount paid by the individual in the year to a person – other than a person that, at the time of the payment, is the operator of a private seniors' residence where the individual lives, or is related to the individual and does not hold a registration number assigned under the Act respecting the

Québec sales tax – to the extent that the amount is attributable to the cost of the individual's registration or membership in a recognized program of activities offered by the person.

To that end, the cost of registration or membership in the program offered by a person will include the cost to the person with respect to the program's administration, instruction, rental of required facilities, and uniforms and equipment that are not available to be acquired by a participant in the program for an amount less than their fair market value at the time, if any, they are so acquired.

However, the cost must not include the cost of accommodation, travel, food or beverages.

Recognized programs of activities

Activities eligible for the tax credit

To qualify for the tax credit, an activity must generally be:

- > engaged in weekly for at least eight consecutive weeks or for 5 consecutive days;
- > structured, that is, it must enable seniors to participate in an activity in a specific setting.

A physical activity must also enable seniors to develop or maintain their cardiorespiratory endurance, their muscular strength or endurance, their flexibility or their balance.

An artistic, cultural or recreational activity must enhance seniors' ability to develop or improve their dexterity, coordination, cognitive skills, social integration or psychological well-being.

Examples of structured activities eligible for the tax credit

Physical activities

- > Dance
- > Curling
- > Swimming
- > Tai chi
- > Aquafitness
- > Bowling

Artistic, cultural and recreational activities

The refundable tax credit for seniors' activities will apply to amounts paid after June 4, 2014 for the registration or membership of an eligible individual in a recognized program of activities, provided the amounts are attributable to activities that take place after that day.

In the case of the R&D salary tax credit, regarding which a Canadian-controlled corporation may benefit from a rate varying from 17.5% to 37.5% depending on the amount of its assets, this rate will be reduced to range from 14% to 30%, according to the same terms as currently obtain.

An increase of 2 cents per cigarette in the specific tax on tobacco products will apply as of midnight on June 4, 2014.

Standardization of the rates of the specific tax on alcoholic beverages

As of August 1, 2014, the applicable rates, depending on whether beer or another alcoholic beverage is involved, will be the same regardless of where such beverages are consumed.

This standardization will be achieved by reducing the rates applicable to products sold for consumption on-site and raising those applicable to products sold for consumption at home.

OTHER MEASURES

Amendment to ensure the fairness of the mechanism for splitting retirement income between spouses

The existing rules give preferential tax treatment to individuals who receive a life annuity under a registered pension plan, because they can use the mechanism for splitting retirement income before normal retirement age (65 years old).

The tax legislation will be amended to provide that, for the income splitting mechanism to be applicable in a particular taxation year, the person whose income is split must have reached 65 years of age before the end of the year, or, if the person died or ceased to be resident in Canada in the year, on the date of his or her death or on the date on which he or she ceased to be resident in Canada.

This amendment will apply as of taxation year 2014.

Changes to government assistance for capitalization

The applicable rate for the purposes of the calculation of the tax credit will be reduced from 50% to 45% for shares acquired after February 28, 2014.

Accordingly, the maximum amount an individual may deduct in calculating his tax otherwise payable for a given taxation year, for shares acquired during a capital-raising period beginning in such year, will decline from $2,500 to $2,250.

In the March 20, 2012 Budget Speech, reductions in the rates of the refundable tax credit for resources were announced, which were to apply regarding eligible expenses incurred after December 31, 2013.

Since a commission will be set up to study Québec's tax system and various tax assistance measures will be analyzed, it is appropriate to once again defer the application of the reduction of the rates of the tax credit and the conditional improvement to these rates announced in the March 20, 2012 Budget Speech.

Transfer to Revenu Québec of responsibilities relating to the application of the Mining Tax Act

Tax treatment of awards paid under the Offshore Tax Informant Program

The Canada Revenue Agency launched the Offshore Tax Informant Program on January 15, 2014.

Québec's tax legislation and regulations will be amended to incorporate, with adaptations based on their general principles, the federal amendments relating to the tax treatment applicable to awards paid under the Offshore Tax Informant Program.

The amount of the tax withholding at source will be equal to 20% of the amount paid.

Harmonization with certain technical measures made public on April 8, 2014

Measures relating to income tax

The announced measures relating to income tax deal with the Canadian Film or Video Production Tax Credit and the communication of information.

These measures will not be retained because Québec's tax system has its own features regarding the tax assistance granted in relation to a film or television production and regarding the communication of information.

Measures relating to the GST/HST

Québec's tax system will be changed to incorporate, with adaptations on the basis of its general principles and specific features arising from the provincial context, the federal measures:

- > making technical changes to the provisions concerning real property to ensure consistent treatment of different types of housing and see that the special valuation rule for subsidized housing applies as it should within the framework of the rules on the place of supply as in the context of a change in the tax rate;
- > clarifying the application of GST/HST public service body rebates in relation to non-profit organizations that operate certain health care facilities;
- > zero-rating precious metals refining services supplied to non-resident persons not registered for the purposes of the GST/HST system;
- > simplifying the tax treatment of the temporary importation of certain railcars;
- > codifying the longstanding relieving provisions related to the tax treatment upon re-entry into Canada of Canadian goods on which the GST/HST has already been paid;

- > updating certain legislative references stipulated in the regulations, other than the reference stipulated in the Taxes, Duties and Fees (GST/HST) Regulations, which has no equivalent in the QST system.

MISCELLANEOUS MEASURES

Indexing of the parental contribution for childcare services

The government is announcing that the indexing of the reduced contribution for educational childcare services and the rate for childcare at school will be tied to the rate of growth in the cost of childcare services. Therefore, as of October 1, 2014, the parental contribution will be raised to $7.30 a day.

Renewal of the local investment funds through December 31, 2015

Under current terms and conditions, the local investment funds (LIF) will expire on December 31, 2014 and the local development centres (CLD) should no longer be able to provide financial assistance as of January 1, 2015.

However, to guarantee continuity in the support to businesses offered by the CLDs, the budget is announcing:

- > renewal of the LIFs until December 31, 2015;
- > streamlining of the terms and conditions for the LIFs to support future entrepreneurs in their efforts to acquire businesses in all regions of Québec.

Fighting tax evasion and unreported work

Implementation of the attestation from Revenu Québec respecting private construction sites

As of January 1, 2015, contractors will be required to obtain an attestation from Revenu Québec and provide it to the recognized client before entering into certain private construction contracts. These requirements will apply:

- > where the cumulative amount of contracts between a recognized client and a given contractor exceeds $25,000 in a calendar year;
- > to all levels of subcontracting.

A contractor can be both a recognized client and a subcontractor, and must meet the respective requirements of these statuses.

The recognized client will be required to validate, on Revenu Québec's website, the authenticity of the attestation obtained from the contractor.

The attestation from Revenu Québec will be valid for contracts entered into during a 90-day period as of the date on which it is issued.

At the end of the 90-day validity period, the contractor will be required to obtain a new attestation from Revenu Québec in order to enter into new contracts.

Closer monitoring of at-risk registrations for the Québec sales tax

The government is announcing that, to more effectively identify companies that commit false-billing fraud, Revenu Québec will monitor at-risk registrations more closely by:

- > increasing the number of companies audited in the construction sector;
- > improving selection criteria for at-risk files;
- > inspecting and auditing certain companies to ensure they actually carry out economic activities.

Tax audits by Revenu Québec

Installation of sales recording modules in bars and resto-bars

Given the success of Projet Resto, the government is announcing that sales recording modules (SRM) will be installed in bars and resto-bars as of June 1, 2015.

The government will bring in a subsidy program to fund the acquisition, installation and updating of the equipment necessary for their installation. The program will be similar to the one available as part of Projet Resto.

The particulars of the installation of SRMs in the bar and resto-bar sector will be specified at a later date.

Implementation of the attestation from Revenu Québec for employment agencies

Certain unreported-work networks sometimes set themselves up as employment agencies. The leaders of these networks exploit workers who often know little about their rights.

This stratagem enables them, in particular, to evade source deductions and social contributions paid by workers.

The government is announcing the following terms and conditions relative to this measure.

The attestation from Revenu Québec will be mandatory beginning on January 1, 2015, where the cumulative amount of the contracts between the client company and a particular employment agency exceeds $2,500 in the calendar year.

The other application details of the measure will be announced at a later date, after consultation with representatives from the sector.

A reduction in tax expenditures

Confirmation of certain measures announced since September 2012

The budget confirms that the tax holiday for large investment projects (THI) will be maintained, as will the improvement to the tax credit to foster the modernization of the tourism accommodation offering in the regions.
